

Attached herewith are digital copies of pages in KSWT 13 (Pappas Telecasting)'s political file. They have 2 separate records for this year so far. Also attached is a completed copy of my Public File Inspection Checklist for KSWT. The first file I got copies of was for a group Citizens for Responsible Law Enforcement, which had no message communicating political matters of national importance. The second folder had files on the Restore Our Future Super PAC supporting Mitt Romney for President. Here is my second submission to the FCC proceeding on enhanced online disclosure of KSWT Public Files political file folders. Here you will see photos of pages in their second file folder for Restore Our Future Super PAC ads supporting Mitt Romney for President. Although broadcasters public files are supposed to be publicly available and accessible to anyone among the general public wishing to see them it is often inconvenient to do so as one must go to the station office to see the files. Also if one wants copies each station charges for paper copies. KSWT charged me $0.75 per page and I ended up paying about $30.75 total to KSWT for paper copies. They often let you make digital copies yourself for free but KSWT wanted to check with their station lawyer if it was okay first, which would have taken a few days.

KECY, which I will go to later charges $1.00 per page for making printed copies but has told me when I come in I should be able to make digital copies for free myself (making my own copies are free as long as I don't have to use their printer) so paper copies from KECY would be even more expensive than KSWT paper copies.

Making an appointment when going to a broadcaster is not required but recommended. The staff was courteous, friendly and helpful but the fact I had to take time out of my busy schedule to come to their office and then had to pay for paper copies made it feel even more inconvenient. This is all the more reason why the FCC should implement, codify and enforce rules requiring enhanced online disclosure of broadcaster's public files including their political files for all to see.
